

Measure 73: Mannix's Mandatory Minimums

Another mandatory minimum sentencing scheme from Kevin Mannix

Quick facts about Measure 73

Chief Petitioners

James Thompson,
Kevin Mannix,
Glenn Pelikan

Fiscal Impact

This measure would cost the state hundreds of millions of dollars while we're struggling to pay for schools and fund critical services

- Measure 73 is the wrong solution to a serious problem.
- This measure is vague and poorly written with too many unintended consequences.
- It was supposed to punish repeat offenders, but could easily be used to impose mandatory minimum sentencing on someone going before a judge for the very first time – even if the accused is a minor who is only 15 years old.
- Measure 73 is an unfunded mandate that Oregon can't afford.

Measure 73 is Opposed by

Partnership for Safety and Justice

Oregon Coalition Against Domestic and Sexual Violence

Bradley Angle

Saving Grace: Imagine Life without Violence

Sexual Assault Support Services

Rebecca Peatow Nickels, Executive Director, Portland Women's Crisis Line

Addiction Counselor Certification Board of Oregon

Human Services Coalition of Oregon

Oregon Education Association

Juvenile Rights Project, Inc.

Former Prosecutors from across Oregon

American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees, Council 75

Service Employees International Union, Local 503

The Oregon Alliance for Retired Americans

Oregon Voices

Oregon Nurses Association

Advocacy Coalition of Seniors and People with Disabilities

Basic Rights Oregon

Democratic Party of Multnomah County

Elders in Action

United Seniors of Oregon

Oregon State Council for Retired Citizens

Oregon Consumer League

Oregon Action